Quota-Free Police Productivity System

For all Command Staff Personnel, and City/County Human Resource Personnel

All jobs exist for a single purpose; to produce the products or services of worth that meets the levels and standards of the organization. Using principles well supported by case law, arbitrational decisions (to include attorney generals' opinions in states with anti-quota laws) this course provides a consistent, fair and bullet-proof method for ensuring all employees give a "full-days" work and contribute their "fair-share" of work to be productive--without using quotas.

Benefits:

1. a rater and bias free system for measuring and evaluating employee productivity.
2. evidence to support managerial decisions to discriminate in favor of good performers and against poor performers. (Note: Not all discrimination is illegal. In fact, discrimination based on productivity is one of the most defensible and best bases for discriminating).
3. productivity and work force morale always go up when management has a fair and equitable system for measuring, evaluating, and rewarding work productivity.
4. non-productive employees will not be able to survive this system, they will either have to get to work or leave.
